

Learning Outcome qualifications Master of Theology (General Programme)

The programme objective is to enable graduates to become experts in one of the theological disciplines, while practising out of a Reformed conviction.

The graduate possesses the following Learning Outcome qualifications, organized in the domains listed below:

Theological knowledge:

1. The graduate has advanced knowledge of and insight into terms, theories, methods and paradigms within one of theological disciplines.<sup>1</sup>

Scholarly skills:

The graduate is capable of:

2. independently integrating knowledge and insights into the Reformed tradition and contributing, from his or her own position, to the evaluation and development of that tradition;
3. independently conducting methodical research within one of the fields of Reformed Theology;
4. connecting the research in the chosen sub-discipline to the whole of theological science;
5. cooperating with other scholars, and integrating and applying relevant insights from non-theological scholarly disciplines to the field of theology;
6. applying his or her theological knowledge and insights to contribute to the formation of scholarly judgments and problem solving, regarding complex ecclesiastical and social issues.

Academic attitude, personal formation:

The graduate:

7. is capable of reporting the research effectively to his peers and to the broader public in a well-structured thesis.
8. possesses a self-critical, transparent and serving attitude when conducting research and in presenting the results to peers as well as to the broader public.

Tuning employment possibilities; professional formation:

9. The graduate is capable of directing scholarly theological knowledge and skills towards taking up responsibilities and tasks within Christian, ecclesiastical and social communities.

Certain outcome qualifications have been further developed into final attainment levels. The outcome qualifications Theological knowledge have been developed into final attainment levels for the various disciplines.

---

<sup>1</sup> Outcome qualification 1 has been worked out, for each major specifically, into specific Final Attainment Levels for each discipline.